

potatoes from our "no dig" kindy garden

Term 4 Week 8 2017

Rebecca from Greenhills Living came back and we read the book called Pete the Planting Pal.

Then we went outside to plant our own Rosemary cutting so we could all grow rosemary at home.

Next it was time to harvest the potatoes from the "no dig" garden made of straw and soil. It was very exciting and a lot of fun.

We found lots of bugs and worms.

We found lots of potatoes.

We were fascinated by the "seed potato" which we had planted in winter.

The leaves went into our compost spinner.

The rich soil (and worms) went into our veggie patch.

We washed the potatoes, chopped them, coated them in oil then sprinkled them with some fresh rosemary that we had not planted.

We cooked them in the oven and then all enjoyed eating them.

We turned the green ones (that had been in the sun and are not good to eat) into "potato people"
